-It will be gratifying to the substantial cit-Izens of Cincinnati if the official representatives of neighboring States in their stay in our city can obtain right views of the character and capacity of the commercial and manufacturing capital of Ohio. Cincinnati is accomplished in the skill of handicraft, and, to do justice to the merits of our mechanics and manufacturers, we would be glad if half hours from festivity could be given to inspect work-shops, machine-shops, and founderies, and the studio and offices of the artist, architect, and artisan. We would be glad that our trestle-boards could be examined, and their designs approved for public and private edifices. We bespeak favorable judgment as to the solidity, convenience, adequacy, good taste, and economy, of the structures our master-builders do erect and can erect on order.

Our stores are bazaars of the riches of commerce and the wealth of the Indies. Our fabrics are choice, and afforded at reasonable prices; our dealers in foreign wares are content to transfer them to the homes of the consumers at a small margin of profit. Our people are social and intelligent; they are independent, but courteous, and the more they are known the more they will be respected. Our schools are superior; our shurches and lecture rooms, our library rooms and Exchanges, honor the city and the citizens. While it is customary to break bread and extend hospitalities with municipal liberality, and in holiday clothes, we wish it could be that the workmen could be seen at their daily avocations, and men and women could be met at their fire sides. Cincinnati is not a humbug city; she is a solid, substantial, prospering, patriotic, spparently sober-faced, but a warm-hearted

Y. M. M. L. Association.

The suggestion of the PENNY PRESS that this Association, around whose history and organination so many memories cluster, to properly observe its approaching anniversary—it being one-fourth of a century since its formationwill be carried out by the Directory. Measures will be matured to make the occasion one of marked interest.

In the life-time of the members, hitherto most active, no other such an opportunity will perhaps occur. The officers will be ably sustained by the members and other citizens.

Shall the Office of Controller be Abol-Ished !

Some are agreed-some not agreed. Som argue that the State might conduct her financial affairs somewhat as a bank does. The Auditor to be President, Directors and Receiving Teller, the Controller, book-keeper, and the Treasurer Paying Teller. Settlements to be made daily-three divisions in one department.

Qualifications of a Governor.

For the special edification of the Ohio State Journal we add to a short article on the above topic. One qualification omitted-sagacity to secure a serviceable newspaper organ.

XXXVIth CONGRESS-1st SESSION.

WASHINGTON, January 26. SENATE .- Mr. Rice introduced a bill to relieve mail contractors.

Mr. Benjamin introduced a bill to authorize the Missionary Societies of the Episcopal Church to enter a certain tract of land in Wisconsin. Referred.

Mr. Bright introduced a resolution to increase the Committee on Claims to seven.

The Vice-President was authorized to appoint the two additional members.

Mr. Hunter wished Mr. Douglas's resolution called up and made the special order for Tuesday at half-past one o'clack, as he wished speak on it.

Mr. Davis objected on the ground that a committee had been appointed to investigate the Harper's Ferry raid, and suggested any legislation which may be necessary. He referred to Mr. Douglas's remarks, that Mr. Buchapan's letter, in reply to Governor Wise, was regarded by the South as an official announcement; that the Constitution and laws confer-red no power upon the President to protect one State from invasion by another. For himself he had formed no such impression. He thought it put the President in a false attitude, and desired the Secretary to read the correspondence, which was done.

Mr. Davis remarked that it was evident from the letter of the President, that he did not deny the power of the Federal Govern-ment to pass the necessary laws to protect the States from invasion. He only said that no power had been conferred on him to do what the Governor of Victoria allow he Governor of Virginia asked. The power belonged to Congress, and not to the Execu-tive. The President had no power to call out the militia, and the policy of the founders of the Government was to restrict the Executive power. He never would be willing to grant the President power to call out the militis or to invade a State. The President's letter did not dony the power of Congress to pass all laws necessary to carry out the provisions of the Constitution. He would never consent from motives of temporary expediency, to invest the Executive with a great centralizing

Mr. Douglas said the Senstor from Wisconsin certainly could not have read his speech. He made no criticism on the President's letter; made no issue with him. His impression on reading the President's letter was that he thought the Constitution conferred no power on the Federal Government to interfere, though he might have meant that the Constitution and laws gave him (the President) more power; still he desired to make no issue with the President. His only object was to secure the enactment of official laws to extend the constitutional power of Congress. He had carefully avoided putting any construction on his letter, and had no desire to assail the President or make issue with him.

The Senator from Mississippi had inimated that they wanted legislation that would authorize the invasion of States, and then went on to show that the President did not differ with him.

Mr. Davis asked if he wished the President clothed with authority to suppress conspiracy.

Mr. Douglas replied no. He only wished the grand juries in the United States Courts to indict, and the Courts to punish the conspirators when convicted. He never wished to put any one at the head of the army to seek out and punish offenders. He only wanted to give the Courts jurisdiction over these cases, but if a military force from one State be in the act of invading another, then he wanted to authorize the employment of he wanted to authorize the employment of military force to repel invasion.

Mr. Davis said it was not necessary to attack every one of the States to constitute treason. An attack on one State was an attack on the Union itself, and was treason.

Mr. Douglas contended that an attack on Virginia without a desire to affect the Federal ginia. He would not, however, debate that point new.

Mr. Hunter's resolution was adopted.

Mr. Wilson concluded a speech by reviewing the aggressions of the South. Mr. Davis followed in defense of the South, and during the debate said that the election of some Republicans would 'not cause a dissolu-

Mr. Wigfall defended Texas from the charge of receiving $10,000,000 for territory to which she had no title. Adjourned till Monday. HOUSE.—On motion of Mr. Etheridge there was a call of the House with a view of affording the absentees time to arrive, preliminary to voting for Speaker. The preceedings connected with this subject occupied nearly an hour.

Mr. Winslow, in order further to procure the attendance of the absentees, moved to ad-

This was decided in the negative. Yeas 32; nays 90.

Mr. Winslow moved that the House proceed to ballot for Speaker visa voce.

Mr. Hickman said that he came into the hall this morning to resist a vote to-day, but having learned that there was a general un-derstanding yesterday that the House shall vote, without interruption, for two weels, un-less a Speaker was not sooner elected, he was not disposed to break through the arrange-ment, though he would not concede that he was bound by it. He would withhold his vote until he found there was some reason to change the determination. He would not engage in this ridiculous farce; when his vote could be of any service it could be had.

Mr. Craige, of North Carolina, said the gen-tleman mistook. He (Craige) had entered theman mistook. He (Craige) had entered into no such arrangement.

The House then proceeded to vote.

When the name of Mr. Hamilton was reached, he said that he referred to the fact that some of his friends had, without consultation with him, put his name in nomination for Speaker. It was done, doubtless, in the hope that the conservative elements would rally around him to defeat the common political enemy. He came here with no expectation or desire to preside over this deliberative body, nor did he consider himself competent for so responsible a duty. Being confident that the use of his name could do no good, he begged leave to withdraw it, thanking his friends for their favorable regard. He wished to say one thing, he did not deal in harsh language. Much had been said about secession. He would not now give his views on the merits of that question, but would content himself with this remark, namely—whatever sontiments may exist on the other side as to the maintaining of the Union at all hazards, he believed disunion was this day upon us.

It might be in the power of the conservadone by the election of a Black Republican Speaker. The people of Texas were as de-voted to the Union as any other citizens; they had manifested their devotion to it by as erality and by yielding up their seperate and mality; and yet this same people and State are now resolved that it were better that the wheels of government should be arrested to day, and that there be no organization, rather than Mr. Sherman be placed in the S chair. The Legislature of Texas had appro-priated $20,000 to pay the expenses if nec-essary, of the Representatives of that State, in view of a still further struggle on this

The roll call having been completed, the result was found to be as follows: Whole number of votes, 226; Necessary to a choice, 114; Sherman, 109; Bocock, 58; Smith, of N. C,. 37; Davis, of Ind., 5; McClernand, 3; scattering, 8.

Mr. Winslow moved that the House again vote, and demanded the previous question.

Some debate ensued as to the proposal of Mr. Etheridge of yesterday, several members claiming that they were not bound by any agreement supposed to have been made about balloting.

The Republicans, after calling for a vote,

The Legislatures at Columbus.

Columbus, January 26 .- The Kentucky and Tennessee Legislatures arrived here at halfpast three o'clock, and were enthusiastically received at the depot, where great crowds had assembled. They were escorted by the com-mittee and military to the Hall of the Repre-sentatives, where the House and Senate were in joint convention.
Gov. Dennison received them in a brief and sloquent speech in behalf of the people of

Gove Magoffin reeponded for Kentucky, thanking the people of Ohio for their cordial reception. Lieut Gov. Newman, of Tennesses, spoke in behalf of Tennessee. The joint convention then adjourned, and the guests were escorted to the public institutions. After support hey assembled in a social levee at the Hall of the Representatives and around the banquet tables at the American and Goodale Houses, where many toasts were read and responded to.

The city around Capitol square is brilliantly illuminated, and the streets full of enthusiastic citizens. There is also a great display of fire-works. The guests leave to-morrow forencon for Cincinnati.

A large supper was given to the Legisla-tive guests at the Neil House at 10 o'clock.

Preparations for Receiving the Legislatures at Dayton.

DAYTON, January 26 .- The citizens of Dayton had made partial arrangements for giving a dinner to morrow to the distinguished guests from Kentucky and Tennessee, but the arrangements of the Cincinnati Committee were such as to allow a stoppage here of only fifteen or twenty minutes. As our citizens could not, in the short space of time allotted, give an entertainment worthy of the city, they resolved to do nothing beyond the firing of a salute of thirty-three guns as a mark of respect.

The Committee from Cincinnati will serve a cold lunch at the depot at noon to-morrow

From Richmond.

RIGHNOND, January 26.—The joint Com-mittee on the Harper's Ferry affair have made a voluminous report, which closes with reso-lutions, urging the arming and equipping of the militia, and the passage of laws encour-aging domestic manufactures, and for the more prompt punishment of persons attempting to incite slaves to insurrection, and vin-dicating the course of Governor Wise throughout the Harper's Ferry affair. Five thousand copies were ordered to be printed.

Massachusetts Anti-Slavery Society. Boston, January 26 .- The Massachusetts Anti-Slavery Society is holding its annual convention in one of the rooms of the Tremont Temple. Francis Jackson, President of the Society, presided. The annual report of the Treasurer shows the receipts of the past year a little over $3,800, and the expenditures $3,400. Most of the leading Abolition orators are present, but the meeting to-day was thinly attended.

H. Howland: loss $5,000, insured. A large quantity of lumber in the yards of W. H. Howland and Flint & Taft was destroyed. Total loss on buildings, lumber, &c., is $15,000.

Additional Foreign News.

Naw Yonk; January 26.—The steamer Tuctonia arrived this evening, bringing London evening papers of the 7th. The funds were firmer in London on the 7th, but business was quiet. Exchange on Austria had risen in consequence of the renewed disquietude which prevails at Vienna. The application for the tion of the Union, instancing Senator Foote, new Canadian loan had reached £12,000,000 sterling. The Bank of England had raised the price for fine gold from £3 17s. 103/d. to £3 18s. Cardinal Wiseman is said to have promised an Irish brigade to the Pope. The Circussians are rapidly emigrating to Turkey. Some sixteen thousand have arrived at Constantinople, and eight thousand more have asstantinople, and eight thousand more have as-sembled at Kertch. Report says that Victor Emmanuel, on New Year's Day, in reply to a speech of the Neapolitan Embassador, that all would be arranged peacefully, and to the Spanish Minister, "tell your Queen she ought to unite with me and not believe all those pastici of the priests,"

Democratic Meeting.

SAVANNAH, January 26.—The Democratic meeting, held here last night, broke up in a row. Henry W. Jackson made a speech sustaining the resolutions in favor of the Millidge-ville Convention, when a row commenced and many withdraw. The meeting then ad-Another meeting was organized, with Collector Barton as Chairman.

Resolutions were passed declaring the election of Seward, or any other Republican in-dorser of the Helper Book, to the Presidency, would be a just cause for the dissolution of the Union. In such an event, those present pledged their lives, honors and fortunes to effeet a dissolution.

From Albany.

ALBANY, January 26 .- Rhineman, the paramour of Mary Hartung, and indicted with her for the murder of her husband, was acquitted this evening of the charge as principal, the jury not leaving their seats. He was taken back to jail to await trial on two other indictments as accessary before and after the Lanch of a United States Sloop. Nonvolk, January 26.—The steam sloop-of-war Richmond was successfully lanched today in the presence of an immense crowd.

From Texas.

New Orleans, January 26.—One thousand picked men in Texas ask for arms and offered their services to the Government by letter to-day.

From Baltimore.

Baltimons, January 26.—A notorious rowdy, named David Houck, was shot this morning in a tavern by John McPherson.

Weather in New York. New York, January 26.—There is a hard snow storm to-night. No signs of the Nova cotion at Portland.

INCREASE OF THE NEW YORK TRADE WITH THE SOUTH.—Careful and full inquiry made among the leading jobbers and importers of foreign and demestic dry goods-of foreign and domestic woollen goods-of importers of laces-of silks, ribbons and trimmings-of The Republicans, after calling for a vote, and some confusion prevaiting, the House finally came to a vote and balloted three times, the last time with the following result: Whole number of votes, 226; necessary to a choice, 114; Sherman, 109; Bocock, 51; Smith, of N.C., 23; Gilmer, 4; Davis, of Ind., 9; Florence, 4; large Southern jobbers will soon buy more heavily than ever, because they expect that many of the small country merchants in the little places back of the seabord will be forced to make their purchases South instead of North, changing thus the course of New York's trade, but in no degree diminishing it—that polities have no more to do with the Southern trade than with trade elsewhere in the world, and that Southern merobants, like Northern merchants, or French merchants, will never allow any considerations except those of price and quality, and freight, to influence their purchase of goods.

> SENSIBLE VIEW OF DISUNION II LOUISIANA .-Mr. Jacob Barker, an old and esteemed citizen of New Orleans, at a late telebration in that city, in alluding to the Southern threats of disunion, said: We know full well that our slaves would not be worth the clothes they wear if the Union should be dissilved. Their value consists in the preservation of Southern rights, as guaranteed by the Constitution. Should it be vacated by a division of the Union, the Northern section would imitate their cousins, the British, making all free who should put foot on their soil. This would de-populate the border States of their slave pop-ulation, and they would, one ater another, become free States, until not one would be left to tell how it had happened.

> FRATEICIDE IN TENNESSEE .- )n Saturday last, Benjamin Hide, living h Davidson County, Tenn., had a difficulty with his brother, Ledville Hide, and infliced a number of stabs upon his body, of which he died in a few bours afterward. The murierer immediately made his escape.

A letter from Washington ays Senator Summer appears to be completel; restored to health and strength.
